LINUS WARLAPINNI

Date de naissance : 1951
Lieu de résidence : Milikapiti (Melville Island)
Langue : Tiwi
Support : pigments naturels sur toile
Thèmes : site sacré de Milikapiti

Linus Warlapinni worked with the Conservation Commission for many years in parks and wildlife. On his retirement from the Commission he became a plant operator with the Council building roads and airstrips on Melville Island. When he needed to spend more time caring for his family he decided to draw on his family ties and so began painting for Jilamara Arts and Craft Association in 2002. Linus is the son of the late leading Jilamara artist Freda Warlapinni (c 1'8-2003).

Linus has become one of the art centre's most consistent and exciting emerging artists, attracting attention from collectors and gallerists.

His work has been selected for various forthcoming group exhibitions in 2004.

All paintings are done in natural ochre collected locally on Melville Island.

NB : Linus est le fils de l'artiste Jilamara Freda Warlapinni.
